Guiding Principles

- Adapted from University Industry Demonstration Partnership (UIDP) Principles
- Outline the principles to foster a productive and respectful long-term working relationship
- The missions of Nonprofit Funders and Research Institutions define the scope of potential collaborations
- Goal is to establish a framework that encourages long term Nonprofit Funder/Research Institution collaborations

Guiding Principle #1

- Nonprofit Funder and Research Institution's collaborative efforts and activities should focus on fostering effective long-term partnerships based on mutual trust.

Guiding Principle #2

- A successful Nonprofit Funder - Research Institution collaboration needs to support the mission of each partner. Efforts that are not in alignment with the mission of either partner will ultimately fail.

Guiding Principle #3

- Nonprofit Funders and Research Institutions should focus on the benefits to each party that will result from efficient and effective collaborations to ensure timely conduct, results in dissemination and advancement of research findings.

Guiding Principle #4

- Both Nonprofit Funders and Research Institutions will benefit from streamlining administrative processes and requirements.

Current Initiatives

- Collaboration on the following topics will facilitate effective and efficient discussion, conduct of research, and administration and advancement of research findings:
  - Development of the Guiding Principles
  - Streamlining Administrative Requirements
  - Research Operating Costs
  - Intellectual Property and Technology Transfer
